A range born from a great collaboration

"I have been a professional artist for almost 25 years. A few years ago, before the fluid art trend emerged, I started experimenting with the acrylic pouring technique by combining fluid pigments, and I realized that it was possible to create fascinating painting effects. Of course, there weren't any pouring mediums on the market yet so I started to formulate my own recipes. I have since constantly adjusted and fine-tuned my formula with the goal of achieving unique effects in a controlled and reliable way, regardless of the colours I used. A longstanding friend of Pébéo, we decided to launch this magnificent project together. The team helped me develop an incredible formula, making my technique accessible to everyone. I can't wait to share it and teach it to as many people as possible."
